"Our Town" by J. B. WHITE

In grateful memory of friends who have gone away this column stands by in silence to express sorrow. For some the near who are always dear, have died. For others, friends speak to us no more. Human experience has found no grief as poignant as death. The dust of each we shall moisten with a tear.

Dr. Epperson Was School Mate Late J. P. Buchannan

Death of Congressman J. P. Buchannan of Brenham not only brought a feeling of great loss to the district he served but a personal grief to Dr. A. S. Epperson, Cameron physician, who knew the congressman in their younger days.

Dr. Epperson and Congressman Buchannan attended school together at old Austin College at Chapel Hill in Washington county. Dr. Epperson helped to elect him to the first public office he ever held, that of county attorney in 1890.

"I was practicing medicine in a little inland German village, Gruenvine, 12 miles west of Brenham," said Dr. Epperson. "He was a good man, a good student, and well worthy of the high place he held in the U. S. Congress."

ROMANCE IN YUGO-SLAV MUSIC OF OLD WORLD

The enchanting and intriguing story of the Jugoslavs will be told in melody by the American Tamburitza String Orchestra on March 9 at the Annual Banquet of the Chamber of Commerce.

Historically speaking the music of the Jugoslavs, or South Slavs, is older than that of any other European nation. The tamburitza, an instrument that is often unknown even to the better informed musicians, has the distinction of being the oldest string instrument in use today by a Christian people.

When Christianity spread out over Europe, the music of Jugoslavia, one of the first of the Christian nations, soon followed. The tamburitza which was devised by Croatian shepherds as early as the fifth century was modified by the Italian and became the mandolin. The Spaniard simplified the construction of the

FEW CROPS RECLASSED

The 1937 crop program details have arrived at the office of George Banzhaf, county agent. They are discussed at length in a statement issued this morning.

The detailed outline of the program came too late to be included in this edition of The Herail but will be carried next week.

The program is very similar to that of 1936 except that several of the crops have been reclassified.

EMERGENCY CROP LOAN OFFICE OPENED HERE

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1937 are now being received at Cameron, Texas, by H. C. Connally, field supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These laons will be made only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source, as provided by regulations issued by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1937 crops or for the purpose of feed for livestock and in no instance may exceed $400.

Farmers are not eligible for these loans if they can borrow from an individual, production credit association, Bank, or other concern. Emergency crop and feed loans will not be made by the Farm Credit Administration to standard rehibilitation clients of the Resettlement Administration whose eminent needs are provided for by Resettlement.

As in the past, the security for these loans will consist of a first lien on crop financed if loan is for the production of crops, and if for the purchase of feed for livestock, then a first lien on the livestock to be fed. Landlords, or others having an interest in the crops or the livestock to be fed, will be required to waive their claims in favor of the lien to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration until the loan is repaid.

Checks in payment of the approved loans will be issued by the Regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at Dallas, Texas.

Yoemen

The Yoemen play the Belton Tigers here in a postponed game, Tuesday, March 2 at 7:30 p. m. This game will probably determine whether Belton will finish in a tie with Rosebud for first place or whether Cameron can push the Belton Tigers into third place by a victory and finish in second place. The Belton Tigers defeated the Yoemen in a game at Belton 24-21 and the Yoemen are out to turn the tables. As an added attraction the Yoe High School teacher's team will play the Hearne High teacher's team at 8:30.

The Yoemen lost to the Navasota quintet in the district meet 16 to 14 by a last minute field goal scored by the Grimes County champions. The Yoemen were easily one of the 4 best teams in the tournament.

T. S. HENDERSON PASSES ON

The extent of the loss sustained in the passing of Mr. T. S. Henderson can scarcely be realized, even by those most intimately acquainted with his activities in behalf of the public interests and with his usefulness as a neighbor and as a factor in community life. In the forest of human enterprise a giant oak has fallen.

Mr. Henderson was essentially public-spirited and progressive. In behalf of the public welfare he lived and labored. His inestimable worth as a public benefactor is attested by the adoption, from time to time, of reform measures and policies which he proposed and fostered, by men high in the counsels of the State's educational, economic and political life, who came to pay their respects, and by the lowering to half-mast of the flags on the buildings in the State Capital and at Baylor University.

Not only was he outstanding as a factor in public life. He was personally mindful and considerate of the lowly and the under-privileged. Those in disappontment, those upon whom fortune did not smile, those whom adversity overtook —the solemn, care-burdened brood—found hope and courage in his counsel and comfort in contributions from his substance. The deep sorrow and anxiety of these and the tokens of their tender regard, when the end came, are beautiful and fitting tributes.

By nature and training he was truly a great leader. He led, not because he sought leadership, but, as remarked by a fellow member of the bar, "because in him the people found one whom they could safely follow." His leadership meant progressive reform and development, and to the people of his community and his county and of the State it was a blessing richer than argosies of gold and jewels.

His was more than the average span of human life; but we should measure one's life, not by its term of years, but by its usefulness and service to mankind. He lived "in deeds, not years, in thoughts, not breaths, in feelings, not in figures on a dial."

In his labors he was relentless and-and persevering. He did not retire. As the stricken soldier is borne from the front line, so, by the forces of nature, he was removed from the stage of action. Though he is removed from the sphere of actual performance, the story of his life will serve as a blessing and an inspiration to those he leaves behind.

His barge has put out to sea; and, though he would counsel "no mourning," not soon will the pall of gloom be lifted.

Old Purse With Bullet Hole From Civil War Shown

A worn purse with a bullet hole, grim reminder of a battle fought fourteen miles from Richmond, Va., in 1864, in which W. L. Stevens, Confederate veteran fought, was on exhibition here this week.

T. A. Stevens, son of the deceased Confederate veteran, has the purse which his father carried through the civil war. The bullet's force was stopped by the folds of the purse and the soldier's life may have thus been saved.

W. L. Stevens was born in Kerry County, Georgia, in 1868 and went into the Confederate army under Capt. Jim Anderson in Newman's, Georgia Brigade. He was wounded in 1864 fourteen miles from Richmond. He was invalided to the rear of the lines and never returned to the army.

In the purse is an old tax receipt issued to a brother of Mr. Stevens in 1906 by the late J. B. Wolf who was tax collector.

The purse, Mr. Stevens estimates is about 80 years old. One item on the tax receipt is ad valorem tax 10c. A poll tax was $1.50 and the county at that time also levied a poll tax of 25c.

FARM CLUB NEWS

"Keeping Your Good Looks" was the subject for the regular committee meeting for 4-H Club sponsors held here Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Methodist Church. Seven sponsors and 6 visitors were present.

Since the program that the sponsors will hold with the 4-H clubs next month will be on "Keeping Your Good Looks," the Assistant Home Demonstration Agent gave to them material on this subject for them to use. The 4-H Club girls will study the problem from 3 angles; how much cosmetics can be depended upon to help them to be "Good Looking," the actual danger involved in the use of cosmetics, and how much being appropriately dressed will help them. All of the sponsors were urged to attend the group meeting for sponsors being held in Marlin, March 8th. The State Girls 4-H Club Agent, Miss Onah Jacks will be present for this meeting.

That a refrigerator crate combined with a few apple boxes can be turned into a good closet is being proved by Johnny Ruth Ruzicka, wardrobe demonstrator for the Ad Hall 4-H Club.

Johnny Ruth had room for a closet in her room but felt that she was unable to buy the new materials from which to make one; hence, she has obtained a large refrigerator crate that is approximately 5 feet high, 2 1-4 feet deep and 2 1-2 feet wide to use for the body of the closet. She has turned the lid of the box into a dor by fastening it to the box with 2 hinges.

She is planning her closet so that it will provide storage for all of her clothing. The shelves which will be used for hats, shoes, and folded garments are made from apple boxes, and will be lined completely up and down one side of the closet. A rod for hanging the other garments will be provided on the other side of the closet.

"I find that my 60 inch reversable tape measure saves me a great deal of time while I am sewing" states Doris Drehr, a wardrobe co-operator in the Milano girls 4-H Club. By a 60 inch reversable tape measure she means one that is 60 inches long and is numbered on both sides with a "1" at each end. "This kind of measure saves me time because I am not constantly turning the tape around to find the starting point like I would be doing if "1's" were on the same end."

Doris has also chosen a very durable tape measure since it is made of cloth and is tipped on both ends with metal pieces.

One hundred and forty fruit trees were given by the Chamber of Commerce to the 4-H Club boys and girls present at the "Start an Orchard" Rally held in the Yoe High School Auditorium Saturday afternoon.

W. F. Paden, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, inspiringly welcomed the group and Miss Wanda Lou Allen, pep-leader for the Ad Hall 4-H Club, led them in some 4-H songs.

"In Milam county, the object should be enough good fruit grown at home to provide for home use," Mr. E. D.

Parnell told the group. "To do this, plant each year a few trees on a fertile well-drained (preferably terraced) site. Choose varieties of fruit suitable to this section and enough different varieties to provide fresh fruit four or five months of the year."

He especially stressed the importance of buying good healthy trees from a reliable nursery, and of keeping them healthy by fertilizing well and by spraying." A wormy peach may be better than no peach at all, but not much better," he concluded.

In the orchard of Mrs. John Ryan, Mr. Parnell demonstrated that fruit trees should have about one third of the new season's growth pruned back in a way to encourage the development of the caterol branches instead of those that add height to the tree.

The rally ended by Mr. Paden giving each child present 2 fruit trees to take home and plant. The 8 orchard demonstrators for the girls 4-H Clubs who were present were given 7 trees apiece to plant in their demonstration orchards.

NOTE—Bulletins on pruning fruit trees and on spraying them may be obtained from the County Agent's office.

"The block house at the spring was made of oak blocks sawed from native timber. There was a store and a tanning vat at the settlement. At night during Indian raid the women would walk from miles around to spend the night in the block house. They came from as far as Jones Prairie and beyond. Strange enough Indians in those days would not make raids in the timber, but on the prairie they were savage enough. Somehow they seemed to fear the timber. As far back as 1868 there was a saloon and store at Blockhouse Springs. My father did his trading there."

"In those days messengers followed regular trails to bring to the settlers information on current events. My father told me that one morning in 1856 Herman Piper, a settler at Block House Springs was topping an oak tree when the messenger came telling of the election of James Buchanman as President. Old man Jiper was a Democrat and so was my father and they rejoiced. The oak tree still stands near the site of the old settlement."

HAIL, JUNIORS!

Spring is here! Limbs of trees are putting out wee little shoots, and the bloom will soon follow. Pretty flowers will soon burst forth, and one of the most beautiful times of the year will have come.

The juniors are buds from Yoe High preparing to burst forth into full bloof when the times comes. As freshmen they were planted, as sophomores they were dormant, and now as juniors, they are at the spring of the year, soon to burst forth in all of the glorious, fragrant beauty of the fullgrown senior.

They are the sub-debs who now reflect the glory of the debutante but who next year will be "the talk of the town.

For the juniors, it is still a little before dawn. The sun has not yet cast its beam on them. Though the path is light and the night is gone and the juniors can almost see day, they have not yet been able to bask in the sunlight of the senior class. The part they act leads to the main part of the play, but next year these juniors will not be minor characters on the life stage of Yoe High School. They will be the heroes and heroines of the 1938 play.

Seniors, Seniors, here they come
With your work they'll fall in line.
The highest type will be their rate
When they're the Seniors of '38.

DRAMATICS CLUB MELODRAMA PLEASES ASSEMBLY

The Melodrama, "Curses What a Night!" presented by the Dramatics Club Wednesday morning in general assembly, was part of the work the club has been studying. Three distinct types have been presented by the club, the comedy, the tragedy, and the melodrama.

In a melodrama there are always three types of characters, the clinging vine, a bold handsome hero, and the villain. The play presented last week was a variation of the old melodrama which originated in the 19th century.

The characters were Animosity Hudwuddle, the proud and beautiful heroine portrayed by Mary Louise La Cooke; Arsenic Ardup, the villianous villiain, played by Neil Rylander; Domrat Hudwuddle, the mere husband of the beautiful Animosity, J. T. Owings; the sheriff, the relentless sleuth, Billy Cooper; and Gandalena, the woman of mystery, Alberta Conner. The scene was laid in the Hudwuddle mansion. The time was nightfall, sometime between Christmas and New Year's Day.

"Curses What a Night" brought fourth many laughs from the assembly and proved delightful entertainment.

BAND STUNT NIGHT DRAWS CROWD

Yoe High and Ada Henderson students, Friday night in the gymnasium, presented "Stunt Night" for the benefit of Cameron Band, which is in dire need of new uniforms for some dozen or more students who have recently been made members.

The program consisted of jokes, a short skit, and a dance by Jane Allen. A skit was given by Yoe High and Ada Hendersan pupils, a gypsy scene with a Spanish dance by Jane Allen. All of the dances by Jane Allen were accompanied by Elizabeth Sprott on the piano. David Wade was the announcer for the school students' skit.

WHO'S WHO! IN THE JUNIOR CLASS

Iva Earl Heath

Since she began her schooling in kindergarten, Iva Earl has been an active worker in her class affairs and extra-curricular activities. Twice she has been president of her class, vice-president once, and is now vice-president of the Spanish Club. During her last year in the Ada Henderson School she was awarded the American Legion Medal of Honor. Interscholastic League work that she has taken part in is the Latin tournament, baseball and tennis. Although her favorite type of boy is a blonde, she says, "I will consider anything in a pinch."

Mary Ann Green

Starting with her first year in school, Mary Ann, president of the junior class and secretary of the student council, has been a prominent figure in her class. Music has been the center of her activities, and she is at present a flute player in the band. She uses her spare time in playing tennis or riding horseback. She attended the Latin essay writing contest in Temple in her freshman year, has represented the H. E. department in dressmkaing, and has entered twice in the spelling contests. At college (A & M she hopes) she wants to major in Medical Science and minor in music.

Billy Cooper

Billy has been with us since kindergarten and has always said that one blonde was the equal of a dozen brunettes. While he isn't playing a piano, he is beating a drum with the band, practicing with the dramatic club, or talking to some girl. He plans to enter Baylor when he finishes high school.

Milton Leech

Although Milton has been in the Cameron schools only four years, he has made a name for himself in scholarship. He has declamed four years and has been with the Dramatic Club, the Spanish Club, and the Press Club. He says that he likes English and hates math, and wants to be a journalist.

CALENDAR

Wednesday, February 24, Cameron vs. Reagan, at Cameron.

Friday, February 26, Junior Play, "Gentleman from Georgia."

THE WASHINGTON STAGE

REVIEWED BY

W. R. POAGE

OUR CONGRESSMAN

Washington, D. C. Feb. 15, 1937.

Of course, there has been more talk about the President's proposed plan of judicial reform than any other matter recently. There seems to be a very strong feeling that, although members are not willing to commit themselves to vote for any plan that will give the President the power to control the membership of the Supreme Court, they are anxious to work out those reforms that will give Supreme Court Justices a chance to retire as other Federal Judges have. To this end the House passed, by an overwhelming vote, a bill allowing members of the Supreme Court who have served for at least ten years to retire on full pay at seventy years of age. This opportunity has long been available to other Federal Judges and I think it was nothing but an act of justice to make it available to members of the Supreme Court. I voted for this bill.

There also seems to be strong support for the proposals suggested by the President, that appeals on constitutional questions be speeded up and that the government be given an opportunity to appear in any case raising the question of constitutionality of any act and present argument in favor of the act. These proposals seem to me to offer much good and I think they will pass. I do not know what will be the result of the proposal that the President be given the power to appoint new members of the Supreme Court. At present there is undoubtedly much more outspoken opposition to it than there is open support, but everyone here admits that the President will be able to put tremendous pressure on Congress and it seems to be taken for granted that he will be able to change many votes. It is pointed out that in the last four years Congress has failed but once to follow the presidential demands; that was in the matter of the soldiers' bonus. I do not claim to know what will happen other than that we are in for lots of hard feeling. I think there should be judicial reform, but fear that it would be very dangerous to destroy the freedom of the Court. Many of the evils that have been attributed to judicial usurpation of power are actually due to a surrender of legislative power on the part of Congress itself, and certainly one of the greatest dangers now confronting our people is the willingness of many Members of Congress to let other people and other branches of the government do their thinking for them.

Actually, much of the legislation of this nation is done today by the Executive Department of the Government through the means of departmental regulations — particularly since these departments have had so much federal money to distribute to those who would accept their rules and regulations. As an example, there is now pending in the Texas Legislature a soil conservation bill which proposes to remit certain taxes to counties for the purpose of aiding in soil conservation work. This bill proposes to set up soil conservation districts along our familiar county lines. The Department of Agriculture recently advised the Texas A. & M. College that unless this bill was changed so as to make the districts follow drainage basins rather than county lines, and that if Texas did not let all "property occupiers," which would include anybody who happened to be within the territory, vote in elections creating districts, and further if Texas did not provide that all violations of the regulations prescribed by the Board should be punishable by fine and imprisonment, that our State would get no federal money.

* * *

Dr. T. O. Walton and J. W. Chapman of A. & M. College came up here and appeared before a meeting of the Texas Delegation (the 21 Texas Congressmen) and we selected a committee, of which I was one, to take the matter up with the Department of Agriculture. We did so, and finally got the Department to agree to let our State work this out in its own way. But I cite this as an example of the determination of the Departments to control all local matters.

Other than the bill to retire Supreme Court Justices, which I have mentioned, the House passed only one important measure. That was a bill extending until June 1939 the President's power to negotiate reciprocal foreign trade agreements. As I said last week, I feel that this is the only practicable way we have of increasing our foreign trade and I voted for the bill.

JOHN DEERE No. 110 COTTON AND CORN PLANTER

The John Deere No. 110 is the accurate one-row riding cotton and corn planter. It drops one cotton seed at a time—or more, if desired—in any quantity per acre. It saves seed and saves chopping.

The John Deere Saw-Tooth Type Steel Picker Wheel—an exclusive feature—picks out even the lintiest cotton seeds and plants them to the best advantage, at the same time removing lint and trash from the hopper. It handles wet seed and dry seed with equal efficiency.

The No. 110 is equipped with John Deere Natural Drop Seed Plates for planting corn, peanuts, feterita, milo, kafir, and other seed, giving you what users say is the most dependable seeding mechanism ever used on a planter.

We can furnish this planter with either shovel or runner style opener and with spring trip or friction trip covering shovels. Fertilizer attachment furnished as an extra.

Henderson

four miles west of the settlement which had once numbered among its residents, Sam Houston.

Early Education

To an old one room log house went the children of the early settlers for schooling. The school located about one mile from the Henderson plantation, gave early educational advantages to children who later, as in the case of Mr. Henderson, were to become prominent in the affairs of Texas. After attending the log cabin school he went to school in the town of Washington on the Brazos river for three years.

At the age of 15 years he went to Waco to attend Baylor University which was then known as Waco University. The university was first established at Independence and then moved in the forties to Waco. In June 1877 he graduated from Baylor, then went to law school in Washington University in St. Louis.

Came to Cameron in 1879

Mr. Henderson came to Cameron in 1879 a young lawyer and hung out his shingle on June 19th. His brother, the late John N. Henderson, was then district attorney for Milam, Robertson and Brazos counties and had recommended Cameron as a good location for a young lawyer. When he came to Cameron the city of the present day was a struggling village of about 500 souls and a shack town with a wooden court house. He merged his fortunes and his talents with those of his newly made neighbors and friends and became in time powerful in leadership and wealth.

Elected to Office

In the general election of 1880 he was named county attorney, one year after his arrival here. He had been serving in the office, appointed upon the resignation of F. M. Adams. He served until 1882 as county attorney and then succeeded his brother as district attorney, and served two terms in that office. On December 10, 1884 he was married to Miss Minnie Agnes Burns of Marshall. Thus was linked two of Texas' most prominent families.

Elected to Legislature

In 1892 he was elected to the Legislature and served in the lower house of the 23rd Legislature. The young Cameron lawyer was attracting attention and Governor Culberson named him to the board of regents of the University of Texas. In all he served 15 years on this board and a part of the time as chairman. A leading Texas Democrat, he was a member of the famous delegation that nominated Woodrow Wilson in 1912 in the convention at Baltimore.

Elected to Congress

Mr. Henderson ran for Congress from the 9th Texas District and received a plurality of the popular votes. In the convention by a strange turn of affairs he was denied the nomination. It went to the late Congressman Rufus Hardy of Corsicana who was succeeded by Luther Johnson, now serving. He served on the board of directors of the Brazos River Reclamation organization from 1926 to 1935.

At one time was vice president of the Citizens National Bank. He organized the Milam County Abstract Company, third oldest business institution in Cameron.

Funeral Friday

Funeral services were held from the family residence on Friday Morning, February 19. The body was taken to the First Baptist Church where Rev. Vernon G. Miles, pastor, directed the services. Among those who paid tribute were former Governor Pat M. Neff, Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas and Cullen F. Thomas. Interment was made in the Oak Hill Cemetery with the Coleman Funeral home directing arrangements.

Surviving are his widow, six children, T. S. Henderson, Jr., Corpus Christi; Mrs. Boyd Wells, Austin; Mrs. Hamilton Bonnet, San Antonio; Mrs. Ernest Beard, Hillsboro; Mrs. John Cecil Culpepper and John B. Henderson, Cameron; eleven grandchildren, John and Tom Wells; Douglas, Tom and Martha Agnes Beard; Betsy and Eleanor Bonnet; John Cecil Culpepper, Jr., John Burns and Jane Birdwell Henderson.

bugaria, one of the instruments in the tamburitza family, to form his guitar. After St. Cyrillus and St. Methodius, brother missionaries brought Christianity to Russia, the Russian peasant adopted the Jugoslav instrument. He did little more than change the shape of the body of the instrument when he produced his balalaika. For that reason the balalaika is the nearest counterpart of the tamburitza.

Into their music the Jugoslavs have written the story of their existence. Suffering and sorrow mingle with joy and laughter. Love ballads soften patriotic war songs. Whirling kolo dances are supplanted by prayerful chants of supplication.

The land of the Jugoslavs is so rich in melody that many of the greatest composers found there the basic themes of their most notable compositions. Johann Strauss, sky-rocketed to fame by him "Blue Danube," was familiar with the older Jugoslav waltzes of both the Danube and the Save river territories. When Tschaikovsky returned to his home after visiting Serbia, Serbian war marches continued to run through his mind. He transcribed two of them into his "Marche Slav." Both Brahms and Liszt composed their Hungarian rhapsodies after hearing the csardashes, or tavern dances of the wandering Magyars who travelled through the northeastern part of Jugoslavia. Smetana preserved the rhythmic beauties of many Slav folk dances when he wrote his group of Slavonic dances.

In addition to the unusual orchestral offerings, the American Tamburitza String Orchesra features both instrumental and vocal solos.

Freeman

feeling bad when he left his office Monday afternoon. Jack Freeman, a brother, lived in the apartment with the deceased lawyer. He summoned a physician at once when his brother suffered the stroke, but death followed shortly.

Mr. Freeman was born in Tupulo, Mississippi, one of a large family of children. They lived on a farm. He came to Milam county 50 years ago. As a young man he taught school. In 1890 he was elected Justice of Peace. He was elected county attorney two years later and served 4 years.

In late years he had abandoned law practice to look after his personal interests and to run his loan agency. His operations were large. A keen observer, Mr. Freeman wrote upon topics of the day and was regarded as an authority on values. At one time he was one of the leading criminal lawyers in the state and as a civil lawyer enjoyed a wide reputation.

His death will be widely mourned not only by those in high places who knew him well, but the masses of people who sought his advice and aid.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence of his brother, T. H. Freeman in Rosebud. The body was taken to Rosebud late Tuesday. Interment was made in the Rosebud cemetery with Rev. W. A. Craven of the Methodist church there conducting the services and the Leland Green Funeral Home here directing arrangements.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ed. McCall of Yarrellton; Mrs. Annie F. Taylor of Laredo; two brothers, Jack Freeman of Cameron and T. H. Freeman of Rosebud.
